

Dr. Scott Rivkees is a talented physician who is well-equipped to advance the health and wellness interests of the state of Florida, and we look forward to the positive contributions he will make. With respect to the concerns some have raised in the past, the University of Florida assessed, addressed and resolved any issues to our satisfaction.

- Melanie F. Ross, Chief of Communications Officer, University of Florida Health